

Stacey McPherson-Ranciato

A life-long resident of Wallingford, Stacey McPherson-Ranciato attended Rock Hill School and Dag Hammarskjold Middle School. She graduated from H.C. Wilcox Technical High School in 1988 using her machine drafting skills for many years at Dasal Industries as a Printed Circuit Board Designer. Stacey entered the field of real estate in 2013 and currently works at Keller Williams where she owns the Generations Team. She stands out as a real estate industry leader regularly winning excellence awards. Beyond her career notability, Ms. McPherson-Ranciato has a steadfast commitment to volunteer service. She is a representative to the Real Estate Agent Leadership Council, a 15 plus year Relay for Life participant, and a primary organizer of "Red Day," a community give back day when over 300 real estate agents give a full day of volunteer service. This 2005 winner of the Volunteer of the Year Award for Wallingford Schools was active in the Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) from 2001-2013 running successful fundraisers, dances, teacher appreciation events, and field days. She served as treasurer of Nature's Classroom trips and as treasurer of the PTO at large. This busy wife of Michael and mom of four was active in Sheehan's Music Parents Association, the Sheehan Marching Band pit crew, and was a set builder for several Sheehan high school musicals. Stacey continues to give to the Wallingford Schools through her volunteer work on the Board of Directors of the Wallingford Education Foundation having served as a past secretary and the current WEF treasurer.
